

2 Editor's Note

Features

3 Preparing for the Future

Peter Ho

7 Complexity, Bureaucracy and the Information Space

Lam Chuan Leong

12 Aligning Public Agencies for National Outcomes

Yeoh Chee Yan

Governance Perspectives

16 Government Communications in the United Kingdom

An interview with Howell James

19 New Zealand's Public Service

An interview with Michael Wintringham

CONTRIBUTORS

Peter Ho is Head of the Civil Service and Permanent Secretary (Foreign Affairs). He is also Permanent Secretary (National Security & Intelligence Co-ordination) and Permanent Secretary (Special Duties) at the Prime Minister's Office.

Lam Chuan Leong is Second Permanent Secretary (Special Projects) at the Ministry of Finance.

Yeoh Chee Yan is Dean and CEO of the Civil Service College and Deputy Secretary (Development) at the Prime Minister's Office.

Howell James is the United Kingdom's first ever Permanent Secretary for Government Communications. He has divided his career between the public and private sectors. Some of his previous positions are: Founding Partner and Director of Brown Lloyd James, a corporate public relations company, Political Secretary to the Prime Minister, and Director of Corporate Affairs at the BBC.

Michael Wintringham was the State Services Commissioner of New Zealand from 1997 to 2004. Prior to that appointment, he was Chief Executive of the Ministry of Housing. He has also held senior positions in the Prime Minister's Department and the Office of the Auditor General and worked mid-career with Hay Management Consultants.

The opinions expressed in Ethos are those of contributors and do not necessarily reflect the views of the organisation they work for, the Government or the Institute of Policy Development, Civil Service College.